Biographical/Historical note

The central figure in the creation and operation of the Standard Oil Company during its rise to the top of the petroleum industry, John D. Rockefeller (JDR) established for the family a leading role in business and philanthropy. From the days of his earliest employment, Rockefeller, a devout Baptist, was generous in his giving to worthy causes, especially those of a religious nature. During the 1890s he developed an orderly system of philanthropic giving through an office staff that included his close advisor, Frederick T. Gates (1853-1929) and his son, John D. Rockefeller, Jr. (1874-1960). With the advise of these and other associates, Rockefeller established the University of Chicago, The Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research (now The Rockefeller University), the Rockefeller Foundation, and other philanthropic organizations working nationally and internationally in the fields of education, religion, and health. Rockefeller's total donations to philanthropic endeavors are estimated to have been $540 million.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr. (JDR Jr.) joined his father's office on October 1, 1897. He oversaw the expansion and diversification of the philanthropic work begun by his father. During his lifetime, the younger

Rockefeller gave more than $537 million to educational, religious, cultural, medical, and other charitable projects.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr. and his wife, Abby Aldrich Rockefeller (1874-1948), passed the Rockefeller philanthropic impulse on to their children. John D. 3rd (1906-1978), Nelson A. (1908-1979), Laurance S. (1910-2004), Winthrop (1912-1973), and David (1915-) further expanded and diversified Rockefeller influence and interests, establishing their own philanthropic organizations, most notably the Rockefeller Brothers Fund (1940), and becoming more active politically.

Scope and Contents note

The Office of the Messrs. Rockefeller (OMR) materials document the increasing role assumed by John D. Rockefeller, Jr. in the management of Rockefeller affairs and amply document his business and philanthropic affairs. They also chronicle the entrance of JDR Jr.'s sons, John D. 3rd, Nelson A., Laurance S., Winthrop, and David, into the world of business, philanthropy, civic leadership, and politics as they joined the office.

This material contains correspondence, reports, pamphlets, memoranda, deeds, maps, contracts, reports, minutes, charters, certificates of incorporation, clippings, diaries, notebooks, calendars, and memorabilia.

There is a microfilm card index of personal and institutional names.

Scope and Contents note

The Boards represented in this series are the most important philanthropies that have been developed from the Rockefeller fortune: the Bureau of Social Hygiene; the China Medical Board of the Rockefeller Foundation and its successor, the China Medical Board, Inc.; the Davison Fund; the General Education Board; the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial; the Rockefeller Brothers Fund; the Rockefeller Foundation; the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research (now known as Rockefeller University); the Rockefeller Sanitary Commission; the Sealantic Fund; and the Spelman Fund of New York.

The papers in the Rockefeller Boards series document the implementation of Frederick T. Gates's vision of systematic and focused philanthropic activities that became the hallmark of Rockefeller philanthropies. These materials document the earliest history of these philanthropies and the participation of family members and their advisors in the founding and ongoing operations of these organizations.

The Rockefeller Boards material is a crucial addition to several of the collections of organizational records housed at the Rockefeller Archive Center. The collections to which these papers are a particularly important complement are the Rockefeller Foundation Archives, especially Record Group 3 - Administration, Program and Policy, and Record Group 4 - China Medical Board; the General Education Board; the Bureau of Social Hygiene; the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research; and the John D. Rockefeller Papers.

For each organization, the materials include the charter and certificate of incorporation; minutes of meetings of the Board of Directors, if a Rockefeller family member was a trustee or director; general correspondence between the administrators of the board and the Rockefeller family office; and subject folders containing correspondence, reports, and other documents on issues and events which were significant to the board. Also found in this series are materials on John D. Rockefeller, Jr.'s Advisory Board, which recommended to Mr. Rockefeller the general direction and specific recipients of his personal giving.

The family members who figure most prominently in this series are John D. Rockefeller, Jr., John D. Rockefeller 3rd, and David Rockefeller. John D. Rockefeller, Nelson Rockefeller, Laurance S. Rockefeller, and Winthrop Rockefeller also appear. Of the Rockefeller family advisors who appear, Starr J. Murphy and Thomas M. Debevoise are the most prominent.
