Biographical / Historical

Hermann Pinkus' father, Felix Pinkus was born April 4, 1868 in Berlin. In 1883 Felix's cousin Hedwing Pinkus was introduced to Paul Ehrlich in Felix's home, an event which led to the marriage of Hedwig to Paul Ehrlich in August 1883.

Felix Pinkus went on to study medicine in Berlin and Freiburg, later specializing in dermatology in Breslau under Albert Neisser. He returned to Berlin, becoming director of a woman's hospital and was made extraordinary professor (ausserordentlicher Professor) in 1921. In 1939 he immigrated to Norway and in 1941 to America where he lived with his son in Michigan until his death on November 19, 1947.

Because of his close relationship with Ehrlich and his cousin Hedwig, he attempted to write Ehrlich's biography, an endeavor which occupied his last years. The essay, "Studieren geht uber Probieren" however is the only complete manuscript. He tried to enlarge it and at the same time translate it into English. He also transcribed a few of Paul Ehrlich's copy books, which had been sent to him after their recovery in 1945.

After his father's death, Herman Pinkus tried to have the essay and the unfinished manuscript published, but without success. For the Ehrlich centennial in 1954 he wrote a few articles himself and made an Ehrlich exhibit at the American Academy of Dermatology and Syphilology in Chicago, for which he won first prize.

Scope and Contents

The Pinkus Family Collection, a special collection of the Rockefeller University, consists of correspondence to Felix and Hermann Pinkus. There are some original Paul Ehrlich letters, reprints of various authors, articles, paper clippings and obituary notes about Ehrlich. The many pages of Felix Pinkus' manuscripts remain unsorted. There are some photographs and material used for the 1954 exhibit in Chicago. The Collection covers the period 1872-1971.
