Biographical / Historical

The National Committee on United States – China Relations (NCUSCR) was established in 1966 as a nonprofit educational organization with a mission to encourage mutual understanding and dialogue between citizens of the United States and China. The National Committee came into being through the cooperative efforts of scholars and civic, religious, and business leaders who, at a time of mutual hostility between the two countries, sought to stimulate public discussion about China and the United States' relations with it by sponsoring conferences, seminars, publications, and other education and outreach programs. In 1972, the National Committee sponsored the Chinese table tennis team's historic U. S. visit. This round of "Ping Pong Diplomacy," which followed closely on Richard Nixon's visit to China in February 1972, helped pave the way for later exchanges and, eventually, for the normalization of relations with China in 1979. Building on these cultural exchanges, the National Committee came to be a primary organizer of professional and policy exchanges between the two countries (and including Hong Kong and Taiwan), in the areas of foreign affairs and international relations, economic development, governance and legal affairs, education, mass media, environmental and global issues, etc. As its role in exchanges became more prominent, the National Committee turned over some of its educational programs to the Asia Society in the late 1970s, but it continues its educational role through public education events and ongoing outreach. Funding for the National Committee comes from the United States government (especially the Department of State), corporations, and foundations, as well as from its individual membership.

Scope and Contents

RG 7 notably includes the records of the America – China Society, from its founding in 1987 through its merger with the National Committee in 2001. Board records in RG 7 document Board and Executive Committee meetings from around 2002/2004 to 2014. Significant subjects in RG 7 include the Shenyang Acrobats' U. S. tour, 1971 – 1972, and National Committee efforts (two-way exchanges and workshops) on behalf of HIV-AIDS awareness and prevention in China. Finally, RG 7 contains information on exchange trips and conferences sponsored by other, "outside" organizations, such as the Committee on Scholarly Communication with the People's Republic of China, whose activities sometimes paralleled the National Committee's own programs. It also includes materials on Sister City programs with China.

Arrangement

The records of the National Committee on United States – China Relations are divided into ten record groups, which reflect the order in which the records were received (but which are otherwise an artificial distinction). The records are sorted intellectually into series, which carry over through all record groups, but they have received minimal physical rearrangement. RG 7 of the NCUSCR records is arranged into fourteen series: 1 – Events; 2 – Exchanges - General; 3 – Exchanges to China; 4 – Exchanges from China; 5 – Conferences, Seminars, Workshops, and Dialogues; 6 – Publications and Reports; 8 – Programs, Projects, and Proposals; 9 – Ping Pong Diplomacy; 10 – Development; 11 – Board of Directors, Committees, and Members records; 12 – HIV-AIDS; 13 – ACS/ACF Programs and Staff; 15 – Clippings and Reference; and 16 – Sister Cities.

Programs, Projects and Proposals, 1966-2014

Scope and Contents

The Programs, Projects, and Proposals series in RG 7 is rather a catch-all series, as it contains both well-formed ideas files and more random project proposals. In addition to these files on possible projects, the series includes materials relating to the National Committee's early role as a Speakers Bureau. An extensive Speakers File, compiled in the late 1960s – early 1970s, contains detailed information on a wide range of China specialists who might be referred to interested organizations.

The HIV-AIDS series documents exchange programs the National Committee organized between Chinese and American public-health specialists, HIV-AIDS workers, and journalists, from 2003 - 2006. In 2003, the NCUSCR sponsored a fellowship visit for three Chinese HIV-AIDS activists, who spent two months in the U. S. learning from community-level organizations engaged in education and outreach. Subsequent two-way exchange programs focused on the role of Community Planning in HIV-AIDS Policy-Making (delegation from China, October 31 - November 13, 2004) and for HIV-AIDS Prevention and Treatment in China (American specialists led workshops in Beijing and Yunnan, May 20 – June 1, 2005). A second exchange program focused on the Media's role in working to overcome stigma and discrimination and foster understanding and community engagement in the fight against HIV-AIDS. A delegation of high-level Chinese journalists visited the U. S. on a two-week study tour in the spring of 2006 (March 23 – April 7) in which they visited HIV-AIDS organizations and received special training in strategic communication techniques. The following month (May 20-31, 2006), American and Chinese specialists led journalist training workshops in Beijing, Changsha, and Guangzhou. The series also includes background readings on HIV-AIDS in China, some program materials from delegation visits and workshops, as well as information on other HIV-AIDS conferences.

Related Materials:Related Materials

Grants from the U.S. Department of State's Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs funded both the Community Planning and the Media exchange programs. Records pertaining to these grants are found in RG 6 (FA1188), Development series, boxes 30-31, folders 273-274, 276-279.

America-China Society / America-China Forum Programs and Staff, 1986-2002

Scope and Contents

The America-China Society (ACS) was founded in 1987 by Henry Kissinger and Cyrus Vance with the goal of promoting understanding and cooperation between the People's Republic of China and the United States. Kissinger and Vance co-chaired the organization, which consisted of 35-40 Directors – business executives or former government leaders – who shared interest in China. According to its statement of purpose, "the America-China Society works to increase understanding between the United States and the PRC; to advance diplomatic, commercial, cultural, social, scientific and educational ties; to foster public policies which promote their shared interests; to enhance opportunities for United States enterprises to engage in mutually beneficial investment and trade with the PRC; and to cooperate with governmental and private organizations having comparable objectives." In January 2000, the ACS directors voted to merge with the National Committee, becoming (around 2001), the America-China Forum of the National Committee on U. S. – China Relations.

The ACS/ACF records in this series consist of Executive Directors correspondence, 1988 – 1999; Directors correspondence, late 1980s – 1990s, and correspondence with Individuals, mid- to late 1990s; organizational records and meeting minutes and materials, 1986 – 2000; records of ACS programs and events; ACS Trip files; and various office files. While some of the meeting, trip, and event files include remarks or notes by Kissinger, materials in the correspondence files pertaining to Kissinger consist mainly of informational memos to him (with marginal responses) or prepared letters.
