Biographical/Historical note

The central figure in the creation and operation of the Standard Oil Company during its rise to the top of the petroleum industry, John D. Rockefeller (JDR) established for the family a leading role in business and philanthropy. From the days of his earliest employment, Rockefeller, a devout Baptist, was generous in his giving to worthy causes, especially those of a religious nature. During the 1890s he developed an orderly system of philanthropic giving through an office staff that included his close advisor, Frederick T. Gates (1853-1929) and his son, John D. Rockefeller, Jr. (1874-1960). With the advise of these and other associates, Rockefeller established the University of Chicago, The Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research (now The Rockefeller University), the Rockefeller Foundation, and other philanthropic organizations working nationally and internationally in the fields of education, religion, and health. Rockefeller's total donations to philanthropic endeavors are estimated to have been $540 million.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr. (JDR Jr.) joined his father's office on October 1, 1897. He oversaw the expansion and diversification of the philanthropic work begun by his father. During his lifetime, the younger Rockefeller gave more than $537 million to educational, religious, cultural, medical, and other charitable projects.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr. and his wife, Abby Aldrich Rockefeller (1874-1948), passed the Rockefeller philanthropic impulse on to their children. John D. 3rd (1906-1978), Nelson A. (1908-1979), Laurance S. (1910-2004), Winthrop (1912-1973), and David (1915-) further expanded and diversified Rockefeller influence and interests, establishing their own philanthropic organizations, most notably the Rockefeller Brothers Fund (1940), and becoming more active politically.

Scope and Contents note

The Office of the Messrs. Rockefeller (OMR) materials document the increasing role assumed by John D. Rockefeller, Jr. in the management of Rockefeller affairs and amply document his business and philanthropic affairs. They also chronicle the entrance of JDR Jr.'s sons, John D. 3rd, Nelson A., Laurance S., Winthrop, and David, into the world of business, philanthropy, civic leadership, and politics as they joined the office.

This material contains correspondence, reports, pamphlets, memoranda, deeds, maps, contracts, reports, minutes, charters, certificates of incorporation, clippings, diaries, notebooks, calendars, and memorabilia.

There is a microfilm card index of personal and institutional names.

Scope and Contents note

Abby Rockefeller Mauzé was born Abby Rockefeller in New York City on November 9, 1903, the first child and only daughter of John D. Rockefeller, Jr. (1874-1960) and Abby Aldrich Rockefeller (1874-1948). She soon became known as "Babs" to family and friends to differentiate her from her mother. Abby Mauzé had five brothers: John Davison Rockefeller 3rd (born 1906), Nelson Aldrich (1908), Laurance Spelman (1910), Winthrop (1912) and David (1915). She attended Brearley School and Miss Chapin's School, both located in New York City.

Along with her brothers, Mrs. Mauzé helped to carry the Rockefeller family's philanthropic tradition established by her father and grandfather. In contrast to her brothers, who became public figures, she conducted her philanthropic activities quietly.

Mrs. Mauzé was a member of the Board of Trustees of the Rockefeller Brothers Fund; an advisory member of the Board of Trustees of Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center (a chief benefactor of the Center along with her brother, Laurance, she received its Medal of Appreciation in 1965); an honorary trustee of the Rockefeller Family Fund; and a benefactor of the Museum of Modern Art (of which her mother was a founder, and in whose affairs her brother Nelson played a major role), The Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Y.W.C.A., New York Hospital, the New York Zoological Society (a major interest of Laurance Rockefeller), and the Asia Society (in whose affairs John D. Rockefeller 3rd also played a major role).

In 1968 Mrs. Mauzé created the Greenacre Foundation, of which she was president, in order to maintain and operate one or more parks in New York State for the benefit of the public. In 1971, she established Greenacre Park, a small vest-pocket park and waterfall on 51st Street in Manhattan, in order to provide New Yorkers "some moments of serenity in this busy world." Laurance S. Rockefeller, a trustee of the Foundation, also played a major role in the creation of the park.

On May 14, 1925, Abby Rockefeller married David M. Milton, a lawyer and investment banker. The Miltons had two children: Mrs. George Dorr O'Neill (née Abby Milton) and Mrs. William Kelly Simpson (née Marilyn Milton). The Miltons were divorced in 1943.

Abby Rockefeller was married in 1946 to Dr. Irving H. Pardee, a neurologist, who died in 1949. On April 23, 1953 she married Jean Mauzé, senior vice president of United States Trust Company. He died in 1974.

Mrs. Mauzé died May 27, 1976, at her New York City apartment on Beekman Place. The Abby Rockefeller Mauzé papers document the private life and personal activities, largely philanthropic, of Abby Rockefeller Mauzé (1903-1976). A preponderance of the material contained in the collection dates from before 1960.

This small collection will likely have significance for scholars working in women's studies, who can, from these papers, have a sense of the work of an intensely private philanthropist whose family was otherwise dominated by powerful men.

Abby Rockefeller Mauzé - Subject Files*Arrangement note

This subseries is arranged alphabetically.

Scope and Contents note

Within Subseries 4, Subject Files, there are three folders of general correspondence (1905-1969). The bulk of the material in these folders consists of personal correspondence between Abby Rockefeller and her father, John D. Rockefeller, Jr. (1914-1947), and outgoing correspondence from Robert W. Gumbel, Office Manager, who handled administrative affairs. (Gumbel's role was significant; his outgoing correspondence can be found in nearly every folder in the collection.) Other materials represented in the general correspondence folders include telegrams from John D. Rockefeller, Jr., her mother Abby Aldrich Rockefeller, and her five brothers; a music notebook (only one page is filled); and five letters of appeal from people Mrs. Mauzé did not know.

The Subject Files also document birthday and Christmas gifts from John D. Rockefeller and John D. Rockefeller, Jr. (1924-1956); press and biographical material that includes partial transcripts of Abby Aldrich Rockefeller's letters to her sister, Lucy T.
