Processing Information

The information provided in this guide is incomplete. The data presented indicates that the material exists, but does not include applicable instance (box and/or folder) information.

If/when the guide is revised to describe specific instances, an updated version of the guide will be made available for scholarly access.

Conditions Governing Use

Researchers who visit the Rockefeller Archive Center are granted permission to examine archival material. Permission to cite, quote from, or publish material from the Center's collections must be requested separately by writing. See Archivists for details

A formal request for such permission should include the name of the collection(s) from which the relevant material is drawn; the title of the proposed article, book, or dissertation; the journal title for articles; the name of the publisher for books or the university for dissertations; and the anticipated date of publication. Permission to use and/or publish images requires completion of a use application with additional pertinent information.

RAC users must abide by all applicable provisions of United States copyright law.

Conditions Governing Access

Open for research. Brittle or damaged items are available at the discretion of RAC. Researchers interested in accessing digital media (floppy disks, CDs, DVDs, etc.) or audiovisual material (audio cassettes, VHS, etc.) in this collection must use an access surrogate. The original items may not be accessed because of preservation concerns. To request an access surrogate be made, or if you are unsure if there is an access surrogate, please contact an archivist.
