Biographical / Historical

In 1950 Eugene Harold Kone was appointed Public Relations Consultant of Rockefeller University. In his office various news releases were prepared and arrangements made for press coverage of certain events. News service clippings passed through this office and were sent for informational purposes to other offices in the University.

In October 1972 the post of Public Affairs Officer at the Rockefeller University was created to which Eric Manterfield was appointed. Eugene Kone continued as consultant working with communications media in collaboration with Eric Manterfield as the University's Public Information Associate.

The responsibility of the Public Affairs Officer will be for "developing programs to increase understanding of the University's research and educational activities by the local, national and international public it serves."

On June 7, 1974 Dr. Frederick Seitz announced the appointment of William J. Comcowich to the post of Public Affairs Officer.
