Biographical / Historical

Prudence Brown is a community development and philanthropy consultant who worked for over ten years at the Ford Foundation. Brown started at the Ford Foundation as a Program Officer in the Division of National Affairs. After a change in the Foundation's program structure, Brown became a Program Officer in the United States and International Affairs Programs (USIAP), Urban Poverty Program. She then took on leadership positions in the larger USIAP as Officer in Charge and then Director. Following another change in the Foundation's program structure, Brown became Deputy Director of the Urban Poverty Program.

After leaving the Ford Foundation in 1992, Brown became a Research Fellow at Chaplin Hall at the University of Chicago. In 2008, she became an independent consultant.

Brown earned a B.A. in psychology from the University of Chicago in 1970 and a M.S.W. and Ph.D. in social work and psychology from the University of Michigan in 1976. Prior to joining the Ford Foundation, she worked as an Assistant Professor in the School of Social work at Columbia University.
