Biographical/Historical note

The Commonwealth Fund was established in 1918 with an endowment of $10 million from Mrs. Stephen V. Harkness for "benevolent, religious, educational and like purposes." The early grants supported a variety of programs while generally promoting welfare, especially child welfare. Several grants were made in the field of medical research, but the Board of Directors decided in 1920 that this field was already sufficiently supported by other philanthropic organizations.

Despite this decision, by the mid-1920s the chief interest of the Fund had become public health, including mental hygiene, community health, rural hospitals, medical research, and medical education. Other grant areas included war relief, educational and legal research, child welfare, and international medical fellowships.

Scope and Contents note

Grant actions comprise the largest series of the Commonwealth Fund records. The earliest grants funded a broad range of projects and associations and reflected the diverse and varied program of the Fund's beginning years. In many cases the grants were parallel or ancillary to existing Commonwealth Fund projects. Often, however, unrelated or special short-term grants were awarded. When the Commonwealth Fund's program became more oriented toward medical education and research, the grant actions mirrored this policy alteration. The records found in the Grants Series are the combination of the unprocessed Grants and Expired Grants Series.

Arrangement note

Series 18 is divided into four subseries. Each series represents an additional accession of grant files.

Arrangement note

This subseries of records is arranged alphabetically by grant recipient.

Scope and Contents note

Grant actions comprise the largest series of the Commonwealth Fund records. The earliest grants funded a broad range of projects and associations and reflected the diverse and varied program of the Fund's beginning years. In many cases the grants were parallel or ancillary to existing Commonwealth Fund projects. Often, however, unrelated or special short-term grants were awarded. When the Commonwealth Fund's program became more oriented toward medical education and research, the grant actions mirrored this policy alteration. The records found in the Grant Series are the combination of the unprocessed Grants and Expired Grants Series.

Arrangement note

This subseries of records is arranged alphabetically by grant recipient.

Scope and Contents note

Grant actions comprise the largest series of the Commonwealth Fund records. The earliest grants funded a broad range of projects and associations and reflected the diverse and varied program of the Fund's beginning years. In many cases the grants were parallel or ancillary to existing Commonwealth Fund projects. Often, however, unrelated or special short-term grants were awarded. When the Commonwealth Fund's program became more oriented toward medical education and research, the grant actions mirrored this policy alteration. The records found in the Grant Series are the combination of the unprocessed Grants and Expired Grants Series.

Scope and Contents note

The Grant files comprise the largest series of the Commonwealth Fund records. Series 18.4 of the Commonwealth Fund contains the fourth accession of grant files from the Commonwealth Fund to the Rockefeller Archive Center. The first three sub-series include grants from the years 1918-1988, while the bulk of the grants in this series range from 1987-2003. A small portion of the grants in 18.4, however, date back as far as 1979. Taken as a whole, these grants demonstrate the Fund's commitment to stimulating innovative thinking on health policy and practice in the United States. This far reaching aim is achieved primarily, but not exclusively through programs that address, "access to affordable care, quality of health care services, health system responsiveness to patients, long-term care concerns, and allocation of health care resources."

Series 18.4 of the CF grant files document the more recent activities of the organization, which focus primarily on improving the quality of, and access to, health care services and insurance. They are especially concerned with making these improvements available to vulnerable populations such as children, the elderly, women, minorities, and low-income families. These grants also document funding to promote healthier lifestyles and to improve medical education and research. These grant files also document the Commonwealth Fund's clear commitment to improving the quality of life for the residents of New York City through grants that improve the physical environment and grants that support research on a variety of health and social issues. Grants housed within this series vary in size from several to several thousand pages each. The files themselves are divided into ten discrete sections as follows: 1.) Completed Grant Reports and follow-up evaluations by staff and consultants, 2.) Interim and final financial reports including cash requisition forms, 3.) Interim and final narrative reports including follow-up correspondence from staff and consultant reports, 4.) Program summary, news release, annual report text, and related correspondence, 5.) Award letter, executed letter of agreement, and amendments to the letter of agreement, 6.) Board report text and resolution, 7.) Final budget, revisions, and related correspondence, 8.) Final proposal and CV's of project personnel, 9.) Request for project support form, tax papers, expenditure responsibility forms, approved subcontracts, and correspondence concerning change in organization name, project director, and address, 10.) Consultant reports, support letters, and site visit reports. The location of each of these tabs is marked by a "tab target" which has been filmed in place of the actual tab. Within each grant, the material has been arranged in chronological order while maintaining the distinctiveness of the ten separate sections or 'tabs.' Some grant folders do not include ten individual sections; however, these records are complete as is. Please note that the title 'Missing Pages' indicates that the administrator retained a 'tab' or section title for the folder, but no documentation was included for that section.

While this collection has been re-formatted, the microfilm is entirely representative of the original documents. In some cases, grant files do not include 10 'Tab' sections although the finding aid may indicate otherwise. This information is completely representative of the original documents.
