James G. Hirsch (1922-1987) was associated with the RU from 1950-1987, when he left to become president of the Josiah Macy, Jr. Foundation. Professor and senior physician, Hirsch worked in tuberculosis with René Dubos and went on to discover phagocytin in white blood cells.

Bruer, and Maxine F. Singer. There was also a scientific tribute held later that day. Speakers included Sally H. Zigmond, Seymour J. Klebanoff, Thomas P. Stossel, and Ira S. Mellman.
