Biographical / Historical

The Ford Foundation's Middle East and Africa (MEA) Program originated in 1958 as the Near East and Africa Program, a regional program area within Overseas Development. The Ford Foundation became more involved in the region with the opening of field offices in Beirut in 1953 and Cairo in 1959. MEA became part of the International Division in 1966 when the Overseas Development Program, along with other international Foundation programs, became part of one International Division.
