Biographical/Historical note

Erwin H. Ackerknecht (1906-1988) was a professor of the history of medicine. He was director of the Institute of the History of Medicine at the University of Zurich from 1957 until his retirement in 1971. Dr. Ackerknecht supervised 155 dissertations primarily in the history of medicine, about 140 of which were at Zurich. Prior to his position in Zurich, German-born Ackerknecht was the first professor of the history of medicine at the University of Wisconsin at Madison (1947-1957).

In his youth, Ackerknecht was involved in radical left-wing politics in Germany. There, he became associated with Leon Trotsky. In early 1933, Ackerknecht went underground and later fled Nazi Germany to France. By 1938, Ackerknecht had philosophically broken with the radical left and became a staunch centrist democrat.

Scope and Contents note

Consists primarily of correspondence by E.H. Ackerknecht to P.F. Cranefield. Also includes obituary material on Ackerknecht.
