Biographical/Historical note

The Agricultural Development Council, Inc. was founded in 1953 by John D. Rockefeller 3rd as The Council on Economic and Cultural Affairs, Inc. It was incorporated as a private, non-profit organization under the laws of the State of New York.

In 1963 the name was changed, but the purposes remained unchanged from those stated in the original Certificate of Incorporation. In broad terms the Council's purposes were "charitable, scientific and educational," and were "designed to stimulate and support economic and related activities important to human welfare."

The Council, from its beginning, committed a major part of its resources and its staff to training and research activities in social science fields. These activities followed both formal and informal patterns. The single aim was to strengthen professional capacity to deal with the economic and human problems of agricultural and rural development in Asia.

In 1985, the Agricultural Development Council, Inc. merged with two other Rockefeller family - related organizations, the International Agricultural Development Service and the Winrock International Livestock Research and Training Center, to become Winrock International.

Revision Description

Migrated from Re:discovery to the Archivists' Toolkit by Becky Robbins. 23 November 2009

Conditions Governing Access

Open for scholarly research, except where particular restrictions are noted (in series 1.A and 1.4).

RAC is unable to provide access to obsolete media and original digital media. In addition separated media may not yet have undergone stabilization procedures. When feasible, a digital surrogate may be created via special order. All applicable charges will apply. See RAC Head of Archival Services or RAC Head of Digital Programs for details.

Conditions Governing Use

RAC users must abide by all applicable provisions of United States copyright law. Reproduction/duplication of archival items is routinely provided in accordance with "fair use." If the RAC does not hold copyright for an archival collection, or items within a collection, it is the user's responsibility to contact the copyright holder, or make a fair effort to do so, prior to publication.

Processing Information

Steven W. Gelston processed this collection as of January 1979.

Research and Training Network

Arrangement note

Series 3 is arranged in 3 subseries:

Subseries 2 - Workshops Subseries 3 - Grants Subseries 5 - Publications

This series does not have a Subseries 1 or a Subseries 4.

Scope and Contents note

The Research and Training Network (RTN) was a program to facilitate interaction and cooperation among American professors, technical aid agency personnel, and non-Western scholars on problems of agricultural development. The goals were the improvement of theory and research with respect to agricultural development and graduate training in the social sciences for students from developing areas. This series includes material pertaining to workshops sponsored by the RTN, grants, and publications.
