Biographical/Historical note

Ann Cook Whitman (1908-1991) was born in Perry, Ohio. She attended Antioch College, where she enrolled in the school's work-study program. She was sent to the Institute for Child Guidance in New York City. She chose a career as a secretary and left college. Her next job was as a personal secretary to Adele Rosenwald Levy, whose father, Julius Rosenwald, was a founder of Sears, Roebuck & Company.

In the early 1950s, Whitman worked for the Committee for a Free Europe. She was recruited to work for the Eisenhower presidential campaign in 1952, going on to work for Eisenhower as his personal secretary through his eight years in the White House and then for a short time at President Eisenhower's retirement home at Gettysburg.

In 1961, Whitman went to work for George Hinman, a political advisor to Governor Nelson Rockefeller. In 1965 she became Rockefeller's executive assistant. She went on to serve as Rockefeller's chief of staff during the first six months of his Vice Presidential tenure. In June 1975, Whitman returned to New York, assisting Rockefeller until her retirement in 1977.

NOTE TO RESEARCHERS

This series contains the office files of Ann C. Whitman. They document her official activities in the execution of her duties as a member of Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller's staff. The actions, decisions, and exchanges of information or points of view documented here occurred in the course of proposing and implementing policies for the Rockefeller administration, political campaigns, and/or Rockefeller's personal activities. However, unless a document is personally signed by Nelson A. Rockefeller, or is referred to in a document personally signed by him, it should not be assumed he saw the document or was aware of its existence or substance. Furthermore, researchers should bear in mind that staff files may contain documents or drafts addressed to Rockefeller that were never shown to him.

SCOPE AND CONTENT

In her role as Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller's executive assistant, Ann Whitman maintained a large number of his office files. This series primarily covers the time period surrounding the 1968 Presidential election, when Governor Rockefeller sought the Republican party's presidential nomination. A significant portion of the material deals with the deepening conflict in Vietnam.

Kissinger Reports on World Affairs and Countries, 1967-1969

Physical Description: 7 document box(es)

Scope and Contents note

This subseries contains reports organized, drafted, and written by Kissinger or his staff, and submitted to Governor Rockefeller by Henry Kissinger. Kissinger and Rockefeller worked together on projects dating from the time when Kissinger directed the Rockefeller Brothers Fund Special Studies Project. Kissinger was on the faculty of Harvard University when these reports were prepared. Following the 1968 presidential election he began his service to the federal government as a Special Assistant to Richard Nixon.

The majority of the information contained in the reports and workbooks was eventually placed into the "Workbook on Problems in Foreign Policy of the United States," a staff report for the Republican Governor's Association Policy Committee, published in June 1968. There are also meeting notes with background information on foreign dignitaries that Rockefeller was scheduled to meet. There is also a folder of material prepared for Governor Rockefeller in advance of the Presidential Mission to Latin America, which was undertaken at the request of President Nixon in 1969.

Physical Description: 10 document box(es)

Scope and Contents note

This subseries contains a portion of the working files of Governor Rockefeller. New York State issues predominate; however, many files are concerned with national matters, reflecting his pursuit of the Republican presidential nomination in 1968 and his general interest in broader issues. On March 21, 1968, Governor Rockefeller declared he would not be a candidate for President in 1968. On April 30, he reversed himself and redeclared his candidacy for the Republican nomination. He actively campaigned until the Republican Convention. Of note in this subseries are three folders of Governor Rockefeller's handwritten notes from meetings he attended; the notes are undated and the majority do not identify the nature of the meetings.
