Biographical/Historical note

The Foundation Center was created in 1956 by foundation leaders who felt the need for an independent organization that would collect and make available information about philanthropic and non-profit organizations in the United States and throughout the world. On May 25, 1956, the Foundation Library Center was incorporated as an educational institution under the authority of the New York State Board of Regents. The Center was to gather comprehensive information about foundations, stimulate reporting and accountability where it did not yet exist, and provide "a convenient place where any person may find accurate information about foundations."

F. Emerson Andrews, long-time president of the Russell Sage Foundation, was the first president of the Foundation Center, serving from 1956-1966. He wrote extensively on the topic of philanthropic and non-profit organizations and was a strong advocate for a central information-collecting agency. He was succeeded by Manning M. Pattillo (1967-1970), Thomas R. Buckman (1971-1991), and Sara Engelhardt (1992-2008).

The books, reports, and files of the Russell Sage Foundation formed a core collection of the Foundation Library Center. The Center also purchased photographic transcripts of financial and other data on approximately 7,000 organizations, and it solicited complete annual reports files where they existed. The library opened to the public in late 1956. In 1960, the Center published its first Foundation Directory.

In 1968, the Foundation Library Center changed its name to the Foundation Center. For further information see its website, <http://foundationcenter.org>, and its publication "Philanthropy in the 21st Century: The Foundation Center's 50th Anniversary Interviews."

Scope and Contents note

The records of the Foundation Center span the years 1922-2004, with the majority of the records dating from the mid-1950s, when the Center was created, to the early 1990s. Most of the material prior to 1956 comes from F. Emerson Andrews, the first president of the Foundation Center. Prior to 1956, Andrews had worked at the Russell Sage Foundation, and much of the correspondence relating to the Foundation Center was addressed to him there.

Containing correspondence, annual reports, financial records, publications, clippings, and a large collection of organizational pamphlets, the collection reveals the history of the Foundation Center and its projects, including fund-raising programs, the directories, "Foundation News," and various seminars in technology and other areas of interest. It also provides a history of governmental influence and tax reform in relation to non-profit organizations. The collection contains manuscripts and articles by F. Emerson Andrews on the world of philanthropic organizations, including his book "The Foundation Watcher." It also includes photographs, a Foundation Center video entitled "Foundations: The People and The Money," a scrapbook containing articles on the Congressional tax reform hearings, and transcripts from these hearings.

The Foundation Center collection exists on 173 reels of 35mm preservation standard microfilm.

Scope and Contents note

F. Emerson Andrews served as the first president of The Foundation Center, 1956-1966. Before his time at The Foundation Center, he was president of the Russell Sage Foundation. He was very interested in and studied philanthropic foundations. His papers consist of correspondence, manuscripts and other published works, and material relating to the Jellicoe Foundation. The Jellicoe Foundation was a fictitious foundation created by Andrews to see if other publishing houses were copying from The Foundation Directory. If Jellicoe Foundation was in the other directory he knew they copied directly and without The Foundation Center's permission.

Trustees (Deceased), 1955-1998

Scope and Contents note

Series 1.2A.9 is labeled "Deceased Trustees." At the time of filming many of these Trustees were not yet deceased. The material was originally labeled in this way because many of the trustees had passed away; but several of the trustees mentioned (such as Vernon Jordan) were placed in the category of "deceased" after declining to accept a Trustee Emeritus position with the Center.

This series contains correspondence and newspaper clippings about The Foundation Center's trustees.

Associates Program Files, 1975-1997

Scope and Contents note

The Associates Program is a fee-based program. Being a member of the Associates Program gave an organization the opportunity to use the resources of The Foundation Center for a small fee on top of the yearly fee. A primary benefit of membership was the ability to draw on the vast database The Foundation Center maintained.
